

MARCH
11

Japanese Delegation Panel

Panel: McIntosh Conference Room in University Hall | 3:00 - 4:15 p.m.

Reception: Marymount Institute/Third Floor Skyway | 4:15 - 5:30 p.m.

Ichiro Fujisaki

Former Director General for North America Affairs of Foreign Ministry, Fujisaki lived in the U.S. 4 times, twice as an ambassador, and served in Jakarta, Paris, London, and Geneva.

Takuro Yoneyama

Yoneyama was the former head of Mitsui and Company's Washington D.C. Office and founder of Nissan Global Corporation.

Azusa "Hanah" Tobimatsu

Born and raised in Aichi Prefecture, Tobimatsu received her undergraduate degree in law from Ritsumeikan University in Kyoto and worked at Marshall University as an outreach coordinator by Japan Foundation through the Japan Outreach Initiative Program.

Momoka Seino

Violinist and singer-songwriter, Seino was appointed as the ambassador of site-seeing for Hokkaido.

Erika Takeda

A 4th year student at Kejo University, Takeda is currently researching the U.S. Constitution with Professor Naoyuki Agawa, with a focus on Internet and law, while interning at the America-Japan Society in Tokyo.

Come meet an official delegation from Japan!

Loyola Marymount University will be hosting a delegation from Japan. Come learn about Japanese politics and society from the former Ambassador to the United States, a business leader, and three young leaders from Japan. Join us for the panel on Wednesday, March 11, 2015, in the McIntosh Conference Room (University Hall, third floor) from 3:00-4:15 p.m.

After brief presentations and a short Q&A session, a reception will be held where you can meet and chat with members of the delegation in an informal setting. The reception will be held afterwards with snacks and refreshments in the Marymount Institute/Third Floor Skyway in University Hall from 4:15 - 5:30 p.m.